INTRODUCTION TO WOMEN EMPOWERMENT

The AICTE Activity point program was organized by the Department of Information Science & Engineering of our college, Don Bosco Institute of Technology from 9th March 2021 to 21th March 2021. The topic on which we, the 5th semester students had participated was based on “Women Empowerment”. In this activity we had to go to village in channapatna which is situated at Ramanagara district at a distance of 20 kms from our institution. There we had to spread awareness about women empowerment in the village, school, and even few public places as a part of our activity program.

During the activity session, we were assisted by the local school Head master, and the staff, students of the village school. We were also given guidance by our lecturers. We were also given full support by our HOD, Mrs. Gowamma, without whose guidance this program was impossible.

The most interesting part of this activity was to educate the students of that government school. This was a quite tough task but through our work force we managed to accomplish it. The entire activity program was no less than adventure because of the marvelous natural recourses in the village. It is also nice place to visit as it has the remarkable terrain structures. In total I would say that the activity program was a good experience and the entire activity was completed without any errors.

To give an introductory approach to the activity,

It was done in 3 sessions with breaks in between. The materials required for performance of the tasks were provided by the college. We had to make use of them correctly so that they could also be reserved for later usage.

We also gained the support of the local village students who co-operated with us in our work. We also express our thankful gratitude to their supportive approach. We believe that by performing this activity we were able to convey a message to the locals about the importance about women empowerment.

“Women Empowerment”

Women empowerment refers making women powerful to make them capable of deciding for themselves. Women have suffered a lot through the years at the hands of men. In earlier centuries, they were treated as almost non-existent. As if all the rights belonged to men even something as basic as voting. As the times evolved, women realized their power. There on began the revolution for women empowerment.

As women were not allowed to making decisions for them, women empowerment came in like a breath of fresh air. It made them aware of their rights and how they must make their own place in society rather than depending on a man. It recognized the fact that things cannot simply work in someone’s favor because of their gender. However, we still have a long way to go when we talk about the reasons why we need it.

In India, women empowerment is needed more than ever. India is amongst the countries which are not safe for women. There are various reasons for this. Firstly, women in India are in danger of honor killings. Their family thinks its right to take their lives if they bring shame to the reputation of their legacy.

Moreover, the education and freedom scenario are very regressive here. Women are not allowed to pursue higher education; they are married off early. The men are still dominating women in some regions like it’s the woman’s duty to work for him endlessly. They do not let them go out or have freedom of any kind.

In addition, domestic violence is a major problem in India. The men beat up their wife and abuse them as they think women are their property. More so, because women are afraid to speak up. Similarly, the women who do actually work get paid less than their male counterparts. It is downright unfair and sexist to pay someone less for the same work because of their gender. Thus, we see how women empowerment is the need of the hour. We need to empower these women to speak up for themselves and never be a victim of justice.

OBJECTIVES OF THE ACTIVITY

The main objectives of the “WOMEN EMPOWERMENT” activity program was to bring awareness about the importance of employing women in today’s society.

The objectives are listed below as follows: -

Introduction

ANTI-DISCRIMINATION AWARENESS PROGRAM - 2021: -

The issue of social exclusion and the consequences of this process for members of minority groups is becoming increasingly important in the field of education. The answers to this state are the postulates of anti-discrimination education and intercultural education. It is worth reflecting what common features, and what are the differences between the two approaches? How can we define the interrelationships between the intercultural education and anti-discrimination education? In this article the two approaches are mentioned as: "the two sides of the same coin" and also as: "anti-discrimination education as a specific continuation of intercultural education ... and vice versa", or as a result of seeing different problems "being together in manifold world". These different reviews of the problem generate different consequences for understanding these two approaches. Their association may be present in a variety of events and initiatives at both school and other institutions of education and socialization among children, adolescents and adults

Anti-discrimination law refers to legislation designed to prevent discrimination against particular groups of people; these groups are often referred to as protected group or protected classes. Anti-discrimination laws vary by jurisdiction with regard to the types of discrimination that are prohibited, and also the groups that are protected by that legislation. Commonly, these types of legislation are designed to prevent discrimination in employment, housing, education, and other areas of social life, such as public accommodations. Antidiscrimination law may include protections for groups based on sex, age, race, ethnicity, nationality, disability, mental illness or ability, sexual, gender, orientation, gender identity/expression, sex characteristics, religious, creed, or individual political opinions. Anti-discrimination laws are rooted in principles of equality, specifically, that individuals should not be treated differently due the characteristics outlined above. Anti-discrimination laws are designed to protect against both individual discrimination (committed by individuals) and from structural discrimination (arising from policies or procedures that disadvantage certain groups). Courts may take into account both discriminatory intent and disparate impact in determining whether a particular action or policy constitutes discrimination.
